	3	What does "For each red Tamer you have in play, add 2000 to the maximum DP of the card you can play by this effect" on this card mean?	It means that you can use this card's [On Deletion] effect to play "1 red Digimon with [Avian], [Bird], [Beast], [Animal] or [Sovereign] in one of its traits (other than [Sea Animal]), and 3000 DP or less," and if you have a red Tamer when this effect is activated, you add 2000 to the maximum DP for the "3000 DP or less" restriction. For example, you can play 1 Digimon card with 5000 DP or less if you have 1 red Tamer, and you can play 1 Digimon card with 7000 DP or less if you have 2 red Tamers.

No, you can't. It only affects the [On Deletion] effect on this card itself.

BT11-043	1 KingSukamon
D111-043	1	Can this card's inherited effect delete an opponent's [Sukamon] to prevent itself from being deleted?	Yes, you can.
	1

		My opponent and I have 1 each of a Digimon with [Sukamon] in its name and this card in its digivolution cards. What happens when those Digimon are deleted and both our copies of this card's inherited effect activate?	The inherited effect activates once on both copies, and only the Digimon for the second one that activated will remain in the battle area.  Even if they are not a [Once Per Turn] effect, "When" and "Would" effects that interrupt when they activate are only triggered/activated once during the period for a set of effects derived from the activation of a single effect.  After all derived effects have processed, it can be triggered/activated again.
	3	If this card's [On Play][When Digivolving] effect activates on an opponent's Digimon with a "The name of this card/Digimon is also treated as [XX]" or "This Digimon is also treated as [another color]" effect, what happens to my opponent's Digimon?	The Digimon will be changed to a white Digimon with an original name of [Sukamon], but it does not lose the "also treated as" effect, so it is also treated as the name or color from that effect as well as a white [Sukamon].
	4	If this card's [On Play] [When Digivolving] effect is activated on an my opponent's [ST12-13 Sistermon Ciel], [BT6-084 Sistermon Ciel] or [BT7-083 Sistermon Ciel (Awakened)], what happens to that Digimon? BT11-044	MetalEtemon
